

Law Firm Gottschlich & Portune Announces New Name

DAYTON ATTORNEYS ANNOUNCE NAME CHANGE

The law firm of Gottschlich & Portune, LLP, has changed its name to Foos Lentz & Posey LLP.

The new partners and owners are Martin A. Foos, Mary E. Lentz, and Terry W. Posey. Though the name has changed, the firm will still be guided by the same principles that have been driving Gottschlich & Portune for the last two decades. For over twenty years, the lawyers of Foos Lentz & Posey have served the community, litigating and advocating for entrepreneurs, businesses, employers, individuals, clients with appeals, injured people, and more in Southwest Ohio.

The firm's ownership and leadership transition has been a careful multi-year process.

"We're proud of the institution that Gary Gottschlich and Buzz Portune created," explains attorney Terry Posey. "But as they continue towards retirement, and we begin to implement new growth initiatives, we are excited to have the firm name represent our outstanding actively practicing partners."
